Art Gallery Redevelopment - focus group sessions

Swan Hill Rural City Council is holding small focus group sessions to seek feedback from the community, regarding the new Art Gallery redevelopment.

Director of Community and Cultural Services, Bruce Myers said he was delighted to be commencing the development of concepts for the Swan Hill Art Gallery redevelopment and was looking forward to getting ideas from the community.

“Members of the community are invited to provide feedback on building design ideas, prior to initial building concept designs being prepared.

“We’ll be holding three focus sessions, scheduled at a variety of times to ensure that we are able to capture everyone interested in this exciting new building,” Mr Myers said.

Mr Myers encouraged all interested members of the community to get involved.

“I encourage residents to get involved and help to shape the future of this great facility.

“Bookings are essential, as focus group session places are limited.” he added.

Mr Myers said alternatively, community members could submit their ideas online, via Council’s Let’s Talk page at: <https://letstalk.swanhill.vic.gov.au/>

To book into a focus session, or for more information, visit letstalk.swanhill.vic.gov.au, or call 5036 2333.
